The Friction Series is a roped climbing competition with three categories in each Mens and Womens:

Recreational: 5.10b and lower

Advanced: 5.10c-5.11c

Open (Lead Only): 5.11d and harder

The event is open to all, and is free for members and $10 for non-members. You must pre-register at any of our facilities to receive a shirt and meal ticket for food at the event. Pre-registration closes one week prior to the event date. However, if you do not pre-register, you can still enter and compete the day of the comp.

There are no judges, the scores are done on the honor system, prizes are awarded to the top finishers in each category and other prizes are raffled off to all participants.

The comp routes are laid out as follows:

This is a redpoint competition, meaning climbs must be done from the bottom to the top – no hanging or weighting the rope.

The climber can attempt any route, however if they fall or weight the rope, they must lower immediately and get back in line before trying again.

Points are based on the number of attempts and how high the climber gets on the route.

The routes are divided into thirds, and points are given for each “third” that is completed.

The competitor must show control of the “finish box” at each section of the route.
